Re: Proposed Amendments to Credit Agreement — Prior to Execution

Dear Sir/Madam,

We have carefully reviewed the Credit Agreement proposed by Mutual Trade Union Co., Limited and wish to express our genuine interest in establishing a strong, long-term partnership with your company.

We approach this relationship as a committed and reliable client. Our business operates at scale, with consistent order volumes and a clear commercial roadmap for growth. We fully intend to honor our obligations and to build a relationship that is profitable and stable for both sides.

It is precisely because we value this partnership that we have invested time in a thorough legal and commercial review of the Agreement. The proposed amendments below are not a challenge to your business or your trust — they are standard protections that any well-managed company operating in international trade would require. We are confident that a partner of your standing will recognize them as such.

We respectfully request your consideration of the following amendments prior to signing, and we remain fully available to discuss any points at your convenience.

Amendment 1 — Section 5.1: Interest Rate on Overdue Amounts

Current language: Current language: "...interest at a rate of 1.5% per week (or part thereof)..."

Proposed: Proposed language: "...interest at a rate of 0.5% per month (or part thereof)..."

Rationale: The current rate of 1.5% per week equates to approximately 78% per annum — significantly above international trade finance benchmarks. We propose 0.5% per month (6% per annum), which reflects standard market practice and remains a meaningful deterrent against late payment. We have no intention of paying late; this amendment simply ensures the penalty remains proportionate if an exceptional situation arises.

Amendment 2 — Section 4: Joint Inventory Count & Sell-Through Period

Current language: Current language: "...the full purchase price for all remaining unsold inventory...within seven (7) Business Days of the final inventory count confirmed by Party A."

Proposed: Proposed language: "...within fourteen (14) Business Days of the final inventory count, as jointly confirmed by both Party A and Party B. Prior to the inventory count, Party B shall be granted a sell-through period of thirty (30) calendar days following the written discontinuation notice, during which Party B may continue to sell the relevant inventory. Only inventory remaining unsold at the end of the sell-through period shall be subject to the buyout obligation."

Rationale: A joint inventory count protects both parties equally and removes any risk of dispute after the fact. A 30-day sell-through window reduces the buyout amount naturally, which is in both parties' commercial interest.

Amendment 3 — Section 6: Advance Notice of Chinese New Year Payment Deadline

Current language: Current language: "...no later than five (5) Business Days prior to the commencement of the Chinese New Year (Lunar New Year) of each calendar year."

Proposed: Proposed addition: "Party A shall notify Party B in writing of the specific CNY payment deadline no later than sixty (60) calendar days in advance of such date each year."

Rationale: The Lunar New Year date shifts annually. A 60-day advance written notification ensures both parties are aligned well in advance and eliminates any risk of an unintentional missed deadline due to calendar uncertainty.

Amendment 4 — Section 8.2: Payment Period Upon Immediate Termination

Current language: Current language: "...all outstanding amounts shall become due and payable within forty-eight (48) hours."

Proposed: Proposed language: "...all outstanding amounts shall become due and payable within five (5) Business Days."

Rationale: International wire transfers require internal authorization, banking processing time, and compliance checks — particularly for payments from Europe to China. Forty-eight hours is operationally unworkable. Five business days is the standard commercial term and allows full and proper settlement without dispute.

Amendment 5 — Section 9.2: Arbitration Venue

Current language: Current language: "...administered by CIETAC...The seat of arbitration shall be Yiwu City, Zhejiang Province, China."

Proposed: Proposed language: "...administered by the Singapore International Arbitration Centre (SIAC)...The seat of arbitration shall be Singapore." (Alternative: ICC arbitration seated in Hong Kong SAR.)

Rationale: As Party B is registered and operating in Europe, CIETAC arbitration seated in Yiwu creates a significant and disproportionate burden on Party B in the event of any dispute. SIAC is a globally recognized, neutral institution with extensive experience in China-Europe commercial matters and is widely accepted by Chinese companies operating internationally.

Amendment 6 — New Clause (Section 13): Dispatch Service Level Agreement

Proposed: Proposed: "Party A shall process and dispatch all outbound shipments within three (3) Business Days of receiving a written dispatch instruction from Party B. Upon dispatch, Party A shall provide tracking number, carrier name, and estimated transit time within one (1) Business Day. Failure to dispatch within the agreed timeline entitles Party B to a credit note of 1% of the affected shipment value per Business Day of delay, up to 10% of the shipment value."

Rationale: Dispatch speed is the core deliverable of a fulfillment partner. A clear SLA with a proportionate remedy ensures operational predictability for Party B's downstream supply chain and sets a clear, fair standard for both parties.

Amendment 7 — New Clause (Section 14): Fulfillment Accuracy & Storage Obligations

Proposed: Proposed: "Party A shall be responsible for accurate storage, picking, packing, and dispatch. All shipments shall match the SKUs and quantities in the dispatch instruction. Party A shall maintain accurate inventory records and provide reports within two (2) Business Days upon request. Goods shall be stored to prevent damage or loss. In the event of fulfillment errors, Party A shall bear all correction costs or issue a credit note at the original purchase price within five (5) Business Days."

Rationale: Fulfillment accuracy and proper storage are the fundamental obligations of a logistics partner. This clause formalizes mutual expectations and provides a clear resolution mechanism for errors.

Amendment 8 — New Clause (Section 15): Liability for Goods in Custody

Proposed: Proposed: "Party A shall bear full liability for any loss, theft, or physical damage to goods while in Party A's custody, including during receipt, storage, picking, packing, and handover to the carrier. Party A shall maintain adequate warehouse insurance covering the replacement value of Party B's inventory at all times. Compensation shall be made at original purchase price within ten (10) Business Days of a verified claim."

Rationale: Party B's inventory represents significant capital at risk while in Party A's custody. This clause reflects the standard of care expected of any professional warehousing and logistics operator.

Amendment 9 — New Clause (Section 16): Accuracy of Shipping Documentation

Proposed: Proposed: "Party A shall be responsible for the accuracy and completeness of all shipping documentation, including commercial invoices, packing lists, and export documentation. If inaccurate documentation prepared by Party A results in customs delays, fines, or additional costs incurred by Party B, Party A shall reimburse all documented direct costs within ten (10) Business Days of a written claim."

Rationale: Shipments from China to Switzerland are subject to customs clearance in multiple jurisdictions. Documentation errors cause costly delays and regulatory exposure. As the party preparing these documents, Party A must be accountable for their accuracy.

Amendment 10 — Section 5.1: Force Majeure Exception from Penalty Interest

Current language: Current language: No exception to penalty interest for Force Majeure circumstances.

Proposed: Proposed addition to Section 5.1: "No interest or penalties shall accrue during any period in which Party B's failure to make payment is directly and demonstrably caused by a Force Majeure event as defined in Section 12.5, provided that Party B notifies Party A in writing within five (5) Business Days of the occurrence."

Rationale: Section 12.5 acknowledges that Force Majeure events can prevent performance — yet the current Section 5.1 would allow penalty interest to accrue even when payment is impossible due to war, a government-imposed banking restriction, or a declared pandemic. This amendment closes that inconsistency.

We are confident that the above amendments represent a fair and balanced framework that protects both parties and sets a strong foundation for a productive long-term relationship. We have structured each request around international commercial standards, not as an expression of distrust, but as the basis on which serious businesses operate.

We look forward to receiving your response and to moving forward with the partnership promptly.

Yours sincerely,
